

Interplay of Coreference and Discourse. Research and Annotations

Abstract

Coreference and discourse markers are strong cohesive devices providing textual coherence. In my presentation, I will discuss the interconnections between them. I present and briefly classify corpora annotated with coreference and discourse relations, with special focus on corpora that have both types of annotation, as well as linguistic research on the topic. Furthermore, I will describe some structural and diachronic coreference-to-discourse transitions and support them with examples from English, German and Czech.
