

CRAC 2022

The Fifth Workshop on Computational Models of Reference, Anaphora and Coreference

Maciej Ogrodniczuk, Sameer Pradhan, Anna Nedoluzhko
Vincent Ng, Massimo Poesio

October 16–17, 2022

A bit of history

Initially CORBON

2016 (NAACL: San Diego)

2017 (EACL: Valencia)

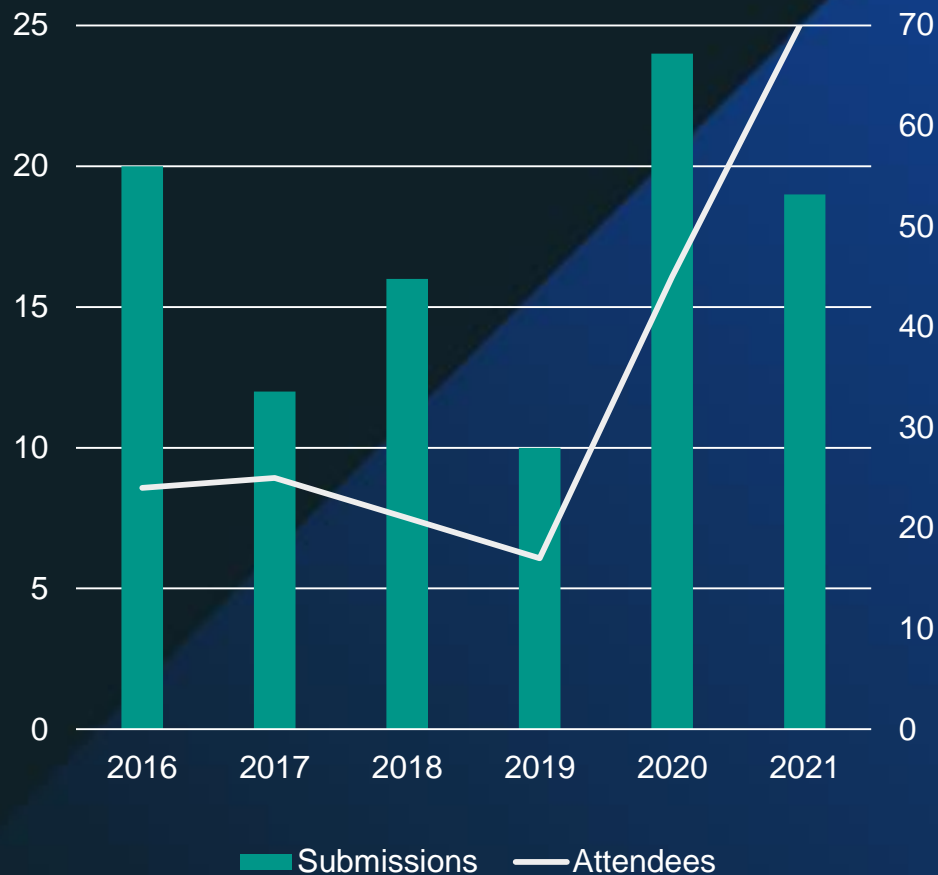

Now CRAC

2018 (NAACL: New Orleans)

2019 (NAACL: Minneapolis)

2020 (COLING: online)

2021 (EMNLP: Punta Cana and online)

CRAC 2022 in numbers

The highlights:

- > 1.5 days
- 2 shared tasks:
 - a new CRAC 2022 shared task on multilingual coreference resolution
 - a CODI-CRAC 2022 joint shared task on Anaphora Resolution in Dialogue (with CODI)
- 3 invited talks:
 - Sharid Loáiciga: Bringing together Anaphora Resolution and Linguistic Theory
 - Juntao Yu, Michal Novák: The recent developments in Universal Anaphora Scorer
 - Massimo Poesio, Lori Levin: Annotating anaphoric reference in dialogue: the CODI/CRAC 2002 Shared Task corpus
- panel discussion on Universal Anaphora

CRAC 2022 in numbers

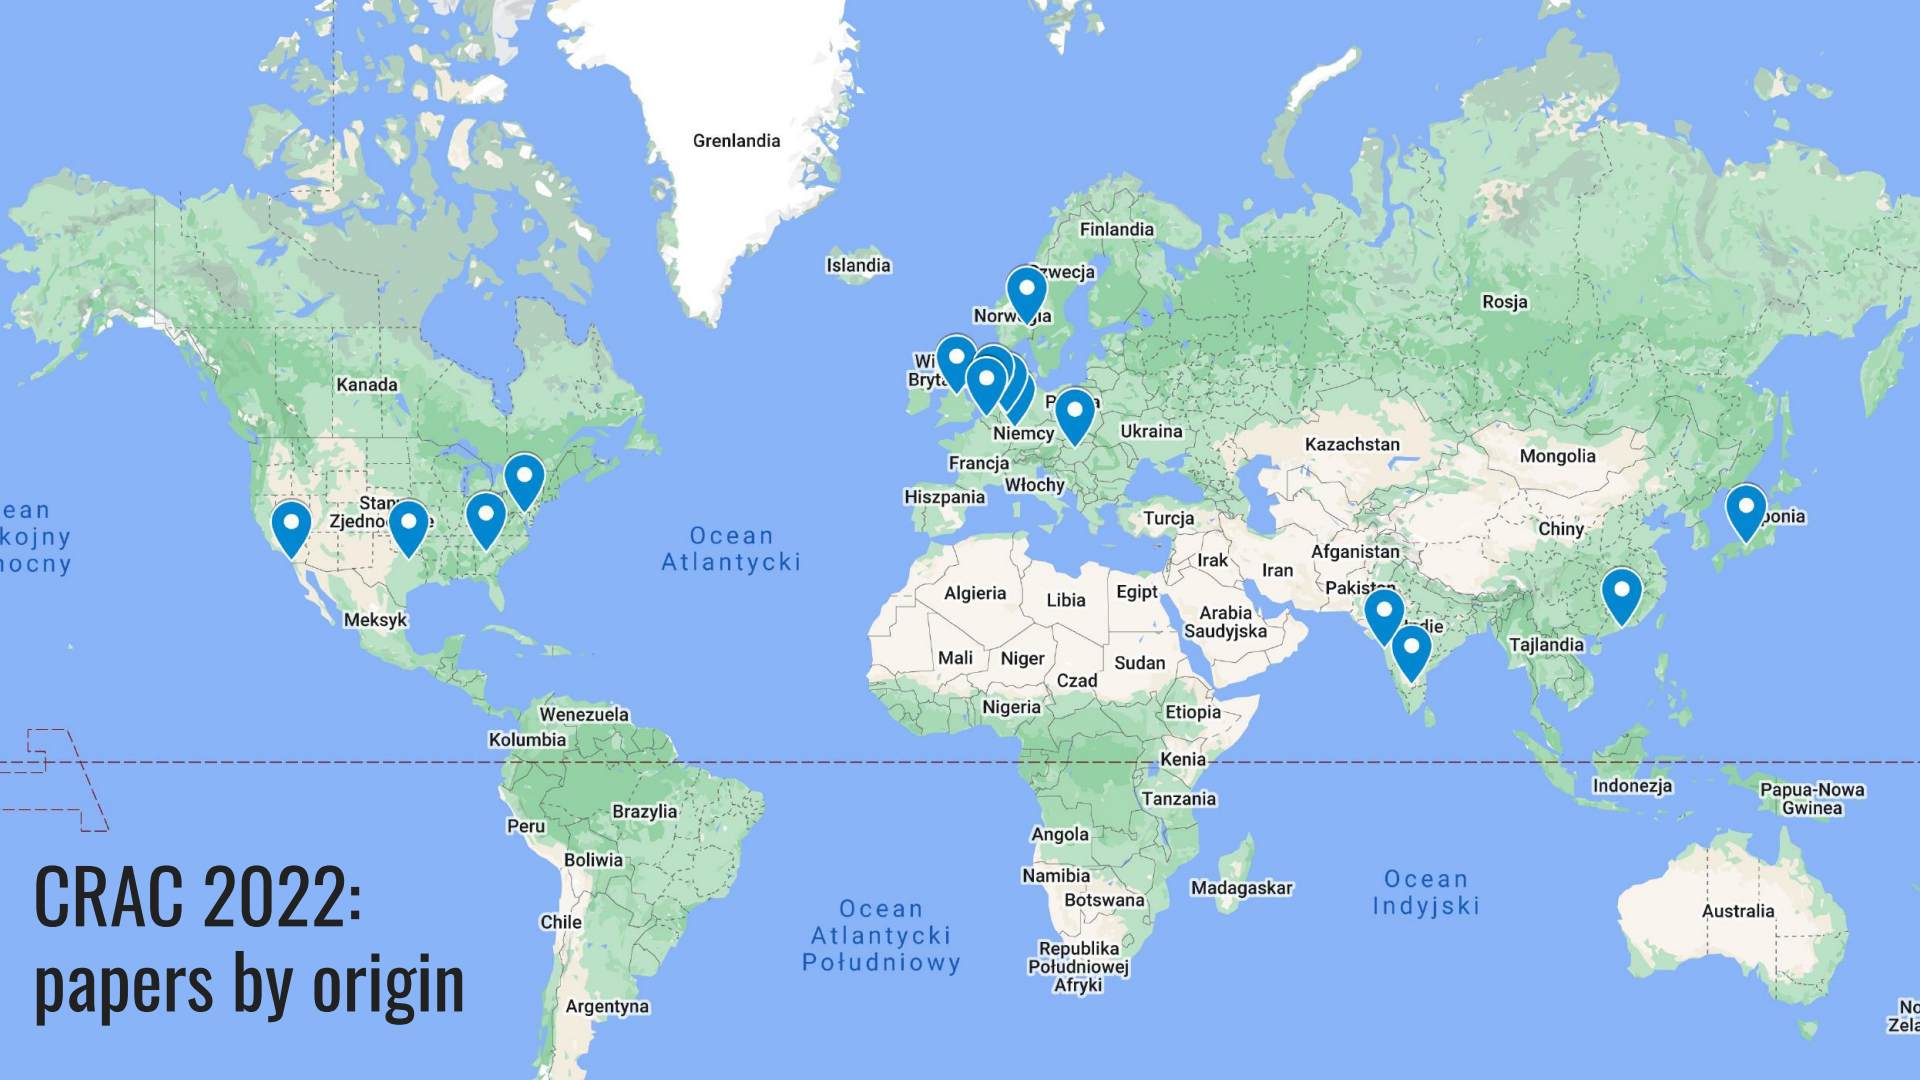

Papers submitted:

- CRAC: 14 papers, –2 withdrawn by authors
- CRAC shared task: 3 system descriptions + an overview paper
- CODI-CRAC shared task: 3 system descriptions + an overview paper

Papers accepted:

- CRAC: 10 research papers (7 long, 3 short)
- shared tasks: all system descriptions

CRAC 2022: papers by origin

ean kojny ocny

No
Zela

CRAC 2022 program at a glance

October 16 (Sunday):

13:30–13:40: Opening and welcome

13:40–14:40: Invited talk by Sharid Loáiciga

14:40–15:30: Paper Session 1 (1 long paper, 3 short papers)
Coffee break

16:00–18:00: Paper Session 2 (6 long papers)

18:00–18:10: Closing remarks

CRAC 2022 program at a glance

October 17 (Monday):

09:00–10:30: CRAC shared task session

Coffee break

11:00–12:00: CRAC shared task invited talk by Juntao Yu and Michal Novák

12:00–12:30: Universal Anaphora panel chaired by Sameer Pradhan

Lunch break

14:00–15:30: CODI-CRAC joint shared task session

Coffee break

16:00–16:45: CODI-CRAC joint shared task invited talk

by Massimo Poesio and Lori Levin

16:45–18:00: Discussion and closing

